Team Bios

Matthew Vitale
Co-founder & CEO

As Cofounder, Matt established Birchal as one of the first licensed equity crowdfunding platforms in Australia, and now the most successful.

He is an experienced financial services lawyer having worked in private practice at a top tier law firm, and as an entrepreneur he has now founded several successful businesses. A recognised expert in the regulation of financial services, and crowdfunding, Matt regularly contributes to scholarly journals and industry consultations.

Kellie Morton
Chief Legal Officer & Director

Kellie was formerly a Partner of an Australian law firm, Founder of her own business and worked as lawyer in New York, London & Australia assisting startups and large corporations with M&A, private equity, venture capital and investment activities.

Working across various sectors, Kellie brings a global perspective to deal making and deal doing, with a passion for Aussies bringing their ideas to life, and simplifying capital raising for both companies and investors.

Adam Vise
Chair

With over 20 years in capital markets, Adam has extensive experience in treasury and capital market execution for clients seeking to fund their vision and purpose.

He has led the raising of capital for all investors including retail investors (especially crowd investors), through to major superannuation funds and banks. He leads the treasury team of Australian Unity, and is an elected director for the ANZ Staff Super Fund and the Chair of the Board's Investment Committee.

Josh Stewart
Chief Technology Officer

Josh is recognised for creating one of Australia's first and now most successful equity crowdfunding platforms.

Before that, he spent his career working for startups shaping and executing their technology strategy, specialising in the fintech, proptech, and e-commerce industries. As CTO, Josh is responsible for Birchal's technology strategy and endeavours to simplify fundraising with an ecosystem that unlocks the power of a community.

Tim Steer
Chief Financial Officer

Tim has worked with a broad range of companies across funds management, consulting, finance, treasury and capital markets. He's long been captivated by using data to make better decisions and is passionate about using his experience to help businesses communicate their value to investors.

As CFO Tim looks after group strategy and budgeting and oversees our settlement processes and financial accounts.

Chelsea Cunningham
Head of Marketing

Chelsea has spent 20+ years delivering for global and national brands, not-for-profits, government agencies and as a partner to Melbourne's top tier brand agencies—highly specialised in transformation, strategy, and growth marketing.

Other roles include strategist, editor, and founder of one of Australia's most specialised brand language agencies. Driving end-to-end execution, she has led major commercial wins for clients.
